

Alive But Dreaming

by Eogrus

Category: Jurassic Park
Genre: Horror, Sci-Fi
Language: English
Status: Completed
Published: 2016-04-10 20:29:44
Updated: 2016-04-10 20:29:44
Packaged: 2016-04-27 20:23:39
Rating: K+
Chapters: 1
Words: 511
Publisher: www.fanfiction.net
Summary: Existence beyond reality

Alive But Dreaming

[big][i]Rusingoryx atopocranion[/i][/big]

Class: Euclid Attribute: Data Type: Grass/Fairy

Enclosure: A legendary cage made out of seven constellations, with a section of each lunar mansion. A dark barrier stands between it and the audience, carefully monitored at all times.

Description: One of ParkPark's most notorious celebrities, [i]Rusingoryx atopocranion[/i] is an amazing antelope, the devil's wish come true. It looks mostly normal - aside from its exceptionally moronic facial construction -, but it is capable of producing an unearthly, heavenly sound unlike anything that has ever been heard and anything that will ever be heard again. It is a miraculous sound capable of healing all wounds, cleansing the spirit and provoking the most intense and maddening lust, as well as comit any wish the listener truly desires and without any catch, honouring its spirit fully.

For this reason, a barrier has been erected between it and the PakrPark visitors, as to allow only its lust-inducing madness to pervade, and keep the goodness out of reach, forever untouched by the mortal realm, even from the park's most powerful entities and owners. This barrier is made of pure Yin energy, using about 45% of the park's magical reserves. It is naturally destroyed by [i]Rusingoryx atopocranion[/i]'s song, meaning the need for a constant flux, but any percentage above 45% will induce complete obscurity to the viewer's mortal eyes. Worse, complete balance between light and dark is impossible, otherwise the excess or lack of light will allow [i]Ptilodus mediaevus[/i] to break through his prison.

Thus, in order to ensure that the constant energy imbalance fluctuates in useful constants, there is a constant need for hell sacrifice, forcing women to bear petrified fetuses whose souls who are then deposited in a biomechanical clockwork mechanism where a small fraction of hell manifests. Here, these child souls are trapped in a web of Maya, a delusion, living in a perpetual state of depression and psychological torment until they are drawn out of life force, and discarded by being baked into a cake that is forced into Rexie's stomach when he's asleep, during his birthday night.

[i]Rusingoryx atopocranion[/i] is represented by a herd of three individuals, and has been so since its resurrection. One, the male Fu Xi, represents Heaven, and sings a song that ideally would have taught men agriculture, marriage and the eight trigrams. The female, Nu Wa, represents Earth and sings a song that ideally would repair the pillar between Heaven and Earth and create humans out of clay (until she gets bored and the clay drops become dumb people). The third, the third-gendered Pangu, represents the expanse of existence and sings a song constantly trying to separate Yin from Yang.

In practise, however, they sing whatever they like.

They are aloof and wise beings that try their hardest to enlighten humanity and separate them from the pitiful state of existence, but alas as long as ParkPark exists that will never be the case. They wait, and greatly enjoy incestual intercourse amidst themselves. Because Pangu is the progenitor and Fu Xi and Nu Wa are brother and sister.

End
file.